South Koreans Anxiously Wait For Eisenhower

A republic of Korea official addresses some of the 10,000 banner-waving Koreans gathered in front of the capitol building in Seoul to express their enthusiasm at the prospect of President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower's visit to their country. Charles E. Wilson, Secretary of Defense-designate, announced he will accompany Gen. Eisenhower on his trip to Korea. Because a full security news blackout has been imposed on Ike's mission, Wilson said he could reveal no details of the impending trip.

Scholarship Association Begins Its Sixth Year Of Helping Local Graduates; Funds Needed

The Salem Community Scholarship Association, which helps young local men and women obtain college educations, is beginning its sixth year of operation.

Coincident with its continuing program of helping the student who is financially embarrassed, the Scholarship Association has found itself faced with the task of raising additional funds.

These funds, now being solicited from those who can give, will help the association increase its assets from $7,000 to an anticipated $14,000. This is based on $1 per capita basis.

FOUNDED formally in January of 1948 as a non-profit corporation, and registered by the state of Ohio, the Association operated informally for little more than one year during which time the scholarship group "picked up" the tuition fee for young people of the community so that they might realize the completion of their formal education. Since that time the Salem Community Scholarship Association has helped at least one student annually to carry on with his or her college education.

E. S. Dawson is president of the local youth education agency which is composed entirely of civic-minded individuals, including the original founders of the somewhat unique plan.

ed, it was almost unique, except for a similar community program in Canton and a couple of other communities. Today, this type of financial aid program for young people who can't afford to continue college is on a popularity upswing with many communities which have come to realize the great need for such a plan, it is pointed out.

IN EXPLAINING the program further, Mr. Dawson says: "It is interesting to note from the estimates of the Commission of Human Relations that out of 1952's 1,300,000 high school graduates, 600,000 will be qualified for college, but only 300,000 will go; 100,000 won't go for lack of funds.

"Statistics such as these are staggering when considered on a national scale; but once resolved to the local situation, the impact is less discouraging and a solution becomes apparent. It was toward this solution that the Association was founded. Not necessarily to help all students through college, of other recognized form of formal training, but to assist the most deserving one (or more as funds permit), yearly on the basis of a burning desire to go to college and become a vocational or professional entity.

Candidates considered are not the outstanding students or athletes for these are usually well provided for by other groups, trust funds, or endowments. The Association is dedicated to helping the average youth whose family finances cannot cover a college education or continuation thereof, despite a great desire to get ahead. Odd jobs, etc., to finance such an educational program are inadequate to cover; and quite often, ironically enough, it is these same necessary odd jobs through high school that prevent these candidates from becoming outstanding in scholarship or athletics."

THE ASSOCIATION annually screens candidates on basis of advancement, merit, and sincerity to make its assistance awards in the form of loans, payable with a modest interest as the candidates later earnings will permit, towards recycling the funds for others to benefit likewise therefrom in the future.

Yearly the assistance rendered is proportioned to the funds available, and in all cases, the Association, fully aware of its responsibility to candidates selected, makes sure that encouragement and commitments made are within the limits of its budget, lest some of these beneficiaries be left stranded part way through the educational program.

The rotating and pyramiding funds are raised through membership donations and dues of the Association. Any and all persons, interested in this type of assistance and sympathetic with the common plight of many youngsters are welcome to join in the cause; the cause to help "Johnny" or "Mary" realize an education objective that is otherwise denied them because the family budget won't see him through.

U. S., England Still Split Over India Peace Plan

Worst Rift Between Nations In Years; Officials Tense

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The most serious diplomatic rift between Britain and the U. S. in years continued unabated today despite efforts by India and other countries to close the breach.

Day-long harmony moves were expected, but diplomats held little hope for them.

The two great allies split far apart when the U. S. notified British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden that it could not accept a British-backed Indian compromise plan for ending the Korean prisoner of war deadlock unless the proposals are stand, but the U. S. wants all details spelled out.

India came up quickly with modifications but these apparently did not satisfy the U. S.

The 21 powers which backed an original American resolution held an urgent closed meeting last night at which U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson detailed the American objections to the Indian proposals. The 21 apparently failed to find a position which would please both Britain and the U. S.

Feelings at the meeting were tense and afterwards press officers of the British and American delegations were not even polite to one another—highly unusual in diplomatic circles.

Eden stayed away from the meeting but sent his top assistant, Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd.

A spokesman said Eden had a "longstanding engagement," but went mum when reminded that Eden didn't make up his mind to stay here until last Friday and therefore it was unlikely that he had a New York engagement for a day he expected to be in London.

Acheson was scheduled to speak late today in the U. N.'s 60-member Political Committee, but aides said he might postpone the speech because of fast-breaking behind the scenes diplomatic developments.

Poland was also on the speakers list and some delegates hoped for a tipoff on official Communist reaction to the split between the Western allies.

Moscow newspapers commented yesterday that the British-American differences over the Indian resolution just proved the Communist contention that a major split—and possibly a war—between the

General Heads Government In Iraq After Weekend Rioting

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—A tough new military-headed government today dissolved all political parties, closed 12 newspapers and prohibited demonstrations in the wake of week-end rioting in which at least 11 persons were believed killed and 58 wounded.

Frenzied mobs looted and set fire to the office of the U. S. Information Service yesterday, stoned the British Embassy and attacked two police stations. Army troops rolled into the capital to restore a semblance of order last night after rioters had driven police off the streets.

Armored cars and machine-gun carriers patrolled Baghdad streets today.

Regent Abdul Ilah called on his Army chief of staff, Gen. Nur Aldin Mahmud, to take charge at the height of the disorders. Hastily, the general decreed martial law and called out troops. Then he formed a new Cabinet.

TOOK OVER 3 POSTS The general took the posts of prime minister, defense minister and acting minister of interior himself. All other Cabinet positions were handed to civilian nonparty men, four of them newcomers to the government.

Carried over from the regime of former Premier Mustapha al Umari were the finance and social affairs ministers and Foreign Minister Fadhel Jamali—now in New York as chief of the Iraq delegation to the United Nations Assembly.

After scattered disorders Saturday, trouble reached a pitch yesterday as mobs marched on the U. S. Information Service office, throwing rocks and shouting: "Down with foreign imperialism."

"Down with forged elections."

Crowds Build Bonfire The crowds smashed into the building. They dragged desks, chairs, papers, pamphlets and even stores of automobile tires and batteries into the street and piled them on a bonfire. The building caught fire several times, but office personnel took refuge behind closed doors and apparently escaped injury.

Other mobs stoned the British Embassy at about the same time and attacked two police stations, burning one. Several demonstrators were killed in the clashes.

Elks Lodge Memorial Rites Planned Dec. 7 Judge Elmer T. Phillips of the Court of Appeals will speak at the Salem Elks' annual memorial service at 2 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 7, in the Elks Home.

Tribute will be paid to the memory of departed members, including six who died during the last year. They are J. A. Mounts, William F. Quilligan, H. G. Segesman, H. C. Gilbert, G. Twing Seeds and Carl Dixon.

Plans for the service, open to the public, are being completed by a committee comprised of William F. Ross, chairman, Harry Snyder, Henry Reese and D. I. Hindman.

Lodge officers, headed by Robert Paxson, exalted ruler, will have charge of the opening and closing ceremonies. Other officers are William Blount, leading knight; James S. Gregg, loyal knight; Max Gato, lecturing knight; Harry Snyder, chaplain; Edmund Blackburn, esquire; Harvey Rogers, Tyler; Ray Ray Kenneweg, secretary, and D. I. Hindman, inner guard.

Battered Seoul Dons Bunting For Gigantic Welcome For Ike

SEOUL (AP)—Battered Seoul donned her fairest raiment and covered her war wounds with bunting today. Nerve-tingling excitement swept this South Korean capital as it prepared a giant welcome for U. S. President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Nobody seemed to know when he would arrive, but everybody was getting ready.

Gen. Mark Clark, accompanied by the British and French ambassadors to Japan, flew in from Tokyo. Clark said he would confer with Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U. S. Eighth Army commander, on arrangements for Eisenhower's visit.

Around the city, workmen hurried to complete 20 huge arches. Seoul's Mayor Kim Tai Sun ordered the work finished today. He has scheduled two monstrous demonstrations—tomorrow and Thursday—whether Eisenhower is here yet or not.

Rickety street cars clattered through the streets draped with huge banners proclaiming a welcome. Storekeepers covered their windows with American and Republic of Korea flags. Ill-clad urchins skipped along, waving tiny flags at passersby.

There was a deadly serious note too. South Korean Army troops and police threw a guard around and through the city. Metropolitan Police Chief Yoon Myung Hoon said strict security measures would be enforced until after Eisenhower leaves.

All residents of Seoul (possibly 800,000 persons) were instructed to register with police. A 9:30 p.m. curfew will be rigidly enforced.

Mayor Kim said security preparations are all set and added: "We will guarantee 100 per cent for the safety of Gen. Eisenhower."

Bombers Blast 200 Red Trucks In Greatest Attack Of Year

SEOUL (AP)—B26 Marauder bombers last night destroyed 200 Communist vehicles in their greatest truck-busting foray of the year.

The Marauders, ranging far and wide over the Red highway network, brought their nine-day bag to 1,175 trucks. The ceaseless attacks are designed to stem the flow of supplies for frontline Communist troops.

Twelve B29 Superforts, the fly-by-night partners of the marauders, dropped 120 tons of high explosives on a Red communications center near Sinanju. The target city is on the west coast, 40 miles north of Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

Down MIG15 In daylight sorties, U. S. F86 Sabre jets shot down a Russian-type MIG15 jet. It was the seventh straight day of victory for the Sabres. Their score for the week stands at 17 MIGs destroyed, two probably destroyed and four damaged.

Ground action Sunday was highlighted by a series of Red harassment attacks all along the bleak 155-mile battlefield.

Feel Out Defenses A U. S. Eighth Army staff officer said the Reds appeared content to feel out the Allied defenses. None of their tentative jabs was aimed at taking any U. N. positions.

The largest Red probe-in-force was launched at Sniper Ridge, war-scarred hill mass on the Central Front. Allied rockets and artillery shells broke up a thrust by 450 Chinese.

The cruiser Los Angeles and the destroyer Swenson poured a rain of fire on Red installations near Korusung. At Wonsan the destroyers Thompson and Seiverling shelled Communist bunkers and shore batteries.

Russia Supplies Indochina Reds

Equipment Moved By Rail Through China

WASHINGTON (AP)—State and Defense Department experts said today Russia-made war supplies are pouring into Indochina over a transcontinental Red railway system protected from Allied air attack because it cuts through China.

Officials said this gives new striking power to Communist forces in Indochina, and presents a new, sinister threat to Burma and Thailand.

Informants said evidence that the Vietnam (Communists) were receiving Russian supplies was found in a recent raid by French and native defense forces on a Communist supply center.

Allied raiders captured 25 tons of Russian-made mortar shells and four Russian "Molotov" trucks with gasoline engines, among other items.

Creates New Threat The presence of these 2-ton trucks at the Vietnam base of operations means that Red forces in Indochina must now be regarded as far more mobile than ever and thus creates a new degree of danger for all Southeast Asia, officials said.

These informants declared that Phu-tho, where the captured war materials were concentrated, is around 40 miles from the Burma border and about 350 miles from the Thai border.

Other Weapons Found In the raid many other types of weapons and ammunition were also captured, including supplies of French, American, British and Japanese materials, as well as Chinese materials.

But interest here centered on the four Russian trucks because of their possible strategic significance. The fact that they are in Indochina at all, responsible authorities said, means that the Red railway line and Indochinese supply routes are functioning against all obstacles.

52 Aboard Craft Missing Over Gulf Of Alaska

Weather Holds Up Search Planes; SOS Couldn't Be Traced

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A faint radio signal was the only tenuous clue today to the fate of 52 men aboard a giant C124 Globemaster which vanished Saturday night over the Gulf of Alaska.

Twenty-four search planes were poised here ready to fan out when weather permits over the 150 miles to tiny Middleton Island, the four-engined transport's last check-point. The weather outlook was poor.

The 41 Army and Air Force passengers and 11 crewmen were listed officially yesterday as missing in the continuing plague of U. S. military air disasters throughout the world.

Names of the crew were released late yesterday. The passengers have not been identified.

Since Nov. 7, six planes either have crashed or disappeared. They carried 162 men, of whom 82 are known dead, 72 are missing and eight survived. Three of the troop carriers were lost in Alaska, two in Korea and one in Montana.

The weak radio signal, which could have come from emergency equipment carried by the Globemaster, was picked up yesterday by the CAA station at Yakutat, on the Alaska coastline about 150 miles east of Middleton Island.

The SOS was so dim no bearing could be taken. But authorities at Elmendorf Air Force Base here said the signal on the international distress frequency of 500 kilocycles might have come from "Gibson Girl" radio transmitters attached to the C124's rubber liferafts.

They cautioned, however, against undue optimism, pointing out that the signal was not picked up again and past experience in Alaska aerial tragedies has shown that mysterious radio transmissions are

Dr. George G. Killinger, board chairman who conducted a hearing on the Hiss petition at Lewisburg (Pa.) Penitentiary about 10 days ago, made this statement: "In the matter of the application of parole for Alger Hiss, the board of parole, after a careful consideration of the official record, unanimously voted to deny the application."

The board is composed of five members. It acted on the basis of a report submitted by Killinger after his visit to Lewisburg.

Benson May Get Cabinet Post

Hoffman Declines Any Appointment

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower had appointments today with a Utah farm marketing specialist and a Louisiana lawyer mentioned as possibilities for two of four unfilled cabinet posts.

Eisenhower mulled over the cabinet vacancies after one of his possible choices, Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Ford Foundation, turned down an appointment at this time "because of unusual circumstances."

The President-elect had a busy schedule today including a morning tour of the United Nations headquarters and a noon conference with Vice President-elect Richard M. Nixon. Eisenhower has not seen Nixon since their election eve appearance together in Boston.

In the afternoon, Eisenhower will confer separately with the two men prominently mentioned for cabinet posts—Ezra Taft Benson of Salt Lake City, reportedly the choice for secretary of agriculture, and John Minor Wisdom of New Orleans, considered a possibility for one of the other vacancies.

Besides the agriculture job, Eisenhower still must name secretaries of commerce and labor and a postmaster general to complete the cabinet. He also must fill the subcabinet posts of secretaries of air, Army and Navy.

Eisenhower met with Hoffman yesterday in his sole political conference of the day. Earlier the general and his wife attended services at Riverside Church.

James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, relayed to newsmen Hoffman's decision not to re-enter government at this time.

Hagerty said Hoffman had reaffirmed to Eisenhower that he "was not seeking and could not accept, because of unusual circumstances, any position at this time." The unusual circumstances were not explained.

"Of course," Hagerty added, "Mr. Hoffman will be available for consultation and advice as well as for temporary emergency assignment should the President-elect want to call on him."

Ike To Talk With Generals, GIs

Report He'll Go Close To Korean War Front

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of staff, says President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower is going to talk with the front-line rifleman as well as the generals on his Korean tour.

Bradley, guest of the American Broadcasting Company's radio-television show "Junior Press Conference," yesterday, said Eisenhower plans to go close enough to the front line in Korea to interview the "soldiers, sailors and airmen themselves."

Asked if he didn't consider it simpler to bring back Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, and other field officers to brief Eisenhower, Bradley replied a briefing of the President-elect by the Korean commanders here would not be "like getting first-hand information."

"Furthermore," he said, "Gen. Eisenhower is not going to talk only to those gentlemen. He is going to talk to division commanders, lower commanders, and even a bunch of the soldiers, sailors and airmen themselves."

Bradley also hinted that the U. S. top command is keeping an open mind on the question of using atom bombs in Korea. Pointing out there are no real strategic targets in Korea and not sufficient tactical targets for such weapons, he added:

"No if they (the Communists) should mass against us for an all-out attack, you might be tempted to use it."

The general said he could see little value in the Indian proposal for establishment of a prisoner of war repatriation commission as a means of settling the Korean truce negotiations deadlock.

"If we can't solve this," he said, "during a military truce talk where we are putting military pressure on them and where it is in their interest to settle it, we think there is less chance of their agreeing to it in a political conference."

Diets In Kidney Stone Treatment

"Is any special diet recommended when there is suspicion of kidney stones?" asks Mrs. C.

This question is difficult to answer since the word, "suspicion," does not make it clear as to whether kidney stones are really present or whether there are symptoms which could come from something else. At any rate, the question of diet and kidney stones is an important one, and if a stone or gravel has been passed it should be studied in a laboratory to find out about its chemical composition.

If the kidney stone is made up of crystals of oxalic or phosphoric acid, for example, the urine is usually kept acid by diet. On the other hand, if the stone is made up of the less common uric acid, then the urine should be kept alkaline by diet.

For these reasons, one cannot possibly give any single diet which is suitable for all people who suffer from kidney stones. The doctor can advise about the diet only after he knows the chemistry of the stone.

In addition to diet the presence of kidney stones usually requires the search for some chronic infection elsewhere in the body and treatment for this if infection elsewhere in the body and treatment for this is found. Sometimes vitamins added to the diet are also helpful, but so far the search for food or medicine which will dissolve stones once they have been formed has been unsuccessful.

Kidney stones are most common between the ages of 25 and 40, though they may appear at almost any time. Numerous possible causes have been suggested, including chronic infection, deficiencies of certain vitamins, and slowing of the circulation in the kidney.

The most likely explanation, however, is that there is some kind of disturbance in the excretion of certain salts which are ordinarily carried in liquid form in the urine. When stones are being formed these salts are precipitated as crystals out of the urine in solid form and gradually become larger and larger.

It is important also to find out where the stone or stones lie. This can be discovered by proper equipment and the use of X-ray. Often it is possible to aid in the passage of the stone by oiling or other measures.

When the pain is severe, the patient must be relieved and this involves the use of pain-killing drugs, sometimes in large quantities. Indeed, the pain of kidney stones is too often extremely agonizing—some who have experienced it say it is the worst to which human beings can be subjected.

Friends Sing Hymns As Boy Dies Of Gun Mishap

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Two teenaged hunting companions sang hymns as 15-year-old James W. Gibson lay dying of a shotgun wound in a cold, wet stone quarry.

The youth was wounded Saturday when he dropped a log, discharging one of the shotguns he and three pals had stacked while searching for wood to build a fire. The blast severed an artery in his leg, Coroner Joseph Check reported.

One boy ran to get a doctor. James asked his other two friends to sing some hymns. Shortly afterwards he died.

End-The-War Offense

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—As the veil of secrecy descends on Gen. Eisenhower's projected visit to Korea, many a veteran of that conflict must look at the calendar today with wry memories.

For it was just two years ago the United Nations forces there launched their great "end-the-war" offensive. The war was five months old then. It will be 29 months old Tuesday.

Few great drives in military history have opened with more public optimism—and more private doubt—than the U. N. attack that began in the early morning hours of Nov. 24, 1950.

The optimism centered at the Tokyo headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. The doubt lay in the minds of the frontline commanders. They were uneasy.

The reason: They didn't know the size of the enemy before them. The goal: The Yalu River, dividing North Korea and Manchuria.

The big question: Had the shattered North Korean Army been reinforced by only 60,000 Red Chinese "volunteers," or did a massive Chinese force wait like a hidden cat in the frozen hills between the Allied line and Manchuria?

Deep - penetrating patrols had failed to yield the answer to the enemy's strength. A division chief of staff looked at the war map in his tent and shook his head as he told correspondents:

"Gentlemen, I've been studying these maps for a quarter of a century, and this one doesn't tell me what I want to know."

A general was so fearful of ambush that before the attack started he issued orders that every vehicle in his division retain a basic supply of "bug out gasoline," enough to sustain a retreat if necessary. Another general said pessimistically:

"The Reds have nothing to lose and all to gain by keeping the Chinese fighting us."

The average Doughboy, however, leaped off with a mixture of dread and joy. He didn't know what foe he would meet, but he was tired of standing still, and the general feeling was, "let's get it over with." And there was also that magic rumor spreading like wildfire through the lines:

"They say we'll be out of here by Christmas if we make it to the border."

Ten of the United Nations' 19

divisions struck out across a frozen wilderness of mountains and ice-covered rice paddies. For two days they plowed jubilantly onward against slight opposition.

The second night the enemy counterattacked. They came in screaming waves, blowing bugles and whistles. The mystery was over. The Chinese seemed to crawl out from behind every rice stalk. In three continuous night attacks they shattered three South Korean divisions, drove them back 20 miles, ambushed a Turkish force, threatened to surround four U. S. Army divisions — then about one-third of America's entire world-wide striking strength.

The endless waves of Chinese turned the great attack into a great retreat. The Allies yielded Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, then fell gradually back on Seoul, which later was abandoned too.

The stubborn, bitterly fought withdrawal was magnificently directed, heartbreaking to see. I flew with an air colonel over the long lines of Allied riding down the long road back, and he said:

"That hurts," he said, almost crying. "It hurts where a man can't scratch."

Later the Allies pushed back north beyond Seoul again. The lines are roughly along the 38th Parallel, where the war began. But in nearly 16 months of truce talks the Chinese have built their army from 500,000 to some million men. Their tank and artillery pieces are at a peak.

These are the somber facts that face Gen. Eisenhower on this fateful anniversary two years after the Allied end-the-Korean-war drive began.

Green Is Buried In Coshocton

13 AFL Union Heads Honorary Pallbearers

COSHOCOTON, O. (AP)—Coshocton says a last farewell today to its No. 1 citizen, Bill Green.

Green, American Federation of Labor president since 1924, died at 82 Friday of a heart ailment. His Baptist funeral service was scheduled at 2 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, in the large Grace Methodist Church so that as many townspeople, labor leaders and government officials as possible could pay their respects.

Heads of 13 AFL unions will be honorary pallbearers. But friends said the fact that would have pleased Green most is that members of the Coshocton Central Trades and Labor Council will be the active pallbearers.

Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin will represent President Truman. Paul Herzog, chairman of the National Labor Relations Board, also will attend.

George Meany, secretary-treasurer and acting president of the federation, will serve as the 14th honorary pallbearer.

Others are William C. Hutcheson, president of the Carpenters; Matthew Woll, Photo-Engravers; Daniel J. Tobin, Teamsters; Harry C. Bates, Bricklayers; William C. Birthright, Barbers; Charles Mac-

Gowan, Boiler makers; George Harrison, Railway Clerks; William C. Doherty, Letter Carriers; David Dubinsky, Ladies Garment Workers; Dan W. Tracy, Electricians; William McFetridge, Building Service Workers; Herman Winter, Bakery Workers, and James C. Petrillo, Musicians.

After the funeral, members of the AFL Executive Council—Meany and 13 vice presidents—will leave Coshocton by train for a meeting in Washington to select a new union chieftain.

Speculation as to Green's successor has centered on Meany, long the No. 2 man in AFL administration. He is 58.

What Method of Local Taxation?

Salem voters, by their recent rejection of the 2.8-mill city operating levy and the six-tenths mill comprehensive plan levy, apparently voiced opposition as to the method of collecting revenue. The tax would have affected only the real estate owner.

The voters, on the other hand, approved the local school operating levy and the county child welfare and tuberculosis levies.

It's hard to believe that the citizens of Salem do not want their city to keep in step with progress. Yet, the two levies which meant so much to the community were beaten.

If the rejection of the 2.8-mill operating levy was a protest over the method, then perhaps the voters indirectly were giving their preference to an income or payroll tax.

There is no escape from the fact that the city must raise additional funds. Part of the millage was a renewal. That is lost, together with what looked like a bonus that didn't materialize.

If City Council is considering a special election vote on the operating levy, it might trim corners by allowing only for raises to presently employed municipal workers, and forget proposed additions to the police and fire departments and forget pay raises for themselves.

Keep Swinging

The new secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, is sure in his own mind that the United States must get off the defensive in relation to the Soviet Union.

Joseph M. Dodge, the man who probably will serve in the Eisenhower administration as director of the budget, is sure in his own mind that the United States must quit believing that dollars can guarantee its security. Ideas, he says, are more potent than money.

The president-elect has made it abundantly evident that he sees no present advantage and no future hope in waiting nervously for the Kremlin to decide what it will do next, then trying to retaliate. He wants to keep Stalin guessing, for a change.

There is a new concept of national security emerging from the circumstances of the times and the character of the men who have been called to deal with them.

It is going to embody several things to which Americans are unaccustomed. One of these is going to be the idea that counter-punching is no way to win a prizefight, a cold war, or a hot war.

Another idea which follows naturally from that one is the importance of making it plain to all potential enemies that America's primary aim is survival, not peace.

The United States will risk a fight to get what it wants.

It will fight to get what it wants. It is on the verge of giving up counter-punching and Kremlin-appeasing as a way of life.

Men Working

With the president-elect of the United States getting ready to reassure fighting men in Korea that a higher destiny than eventual death in a perpetual meat-grinder awaits them;

With Charles E. Wilson getting ready to take over the economic problems of the Department of Defense;

With John Foster Dulles named secretary of state and accepting the responsibility which awaits him as the best-qualified man for the job;

With Sen. Lodge in Washington learning the administrative ropes so he can become executive assistant to Dwight Eisenhower, and with Joseph M. Dodge going to work on the complex arithmetic of the federal budget, Washington has seen more energy in the last two weeks than in the previous two months.

The slowdown which always occurs before and after a national election had been aggravated this year by the retirement of an incumbent president, followed by the forced retirement of the party in power.

But it now is plain that government can pick up speed without waiting for the formal inauguration of the Eisenhower administration. Mr. Dulles can begin to make decisions now. So can Mr. Wilson. And so, of course, can Mr. Eisenhower.

There is no formula for changing an administration. There can't be. It depends on circumstances and personalities. In 1932 and 1933, Franklin D. Roosevelt let things drift from November to March because he did not want to talk with Herbert Hoover. In 1945, because he never had talked with Harry Truman, that unprepared man became president without even knowing where the bodies were buried.

It is going to be done better this time. Men are working in Washington. The incoming administration is on the job and will be going at top speed by Jan. 20.

An Ohio mother fainted when she learned her daughter had eloped. The match that burned mom up.

Let other people get the best of you—and keep the worst for yourself.

Truman's New Role

By ROLFE BOSWELL

Predecessors Led Busy Lives After Presidency

Speculation over President Truman's future, after retirement from office, has aroused national interest. There are reports that he is planning to make a trip around the world and that he is interested in a writing career.

Post-presidential careers in the 20th century have varied considerably. Some recent presidents had large independent means to fall back on when they left the White House—Herbert Hoover and Theodore Roosevelt, for example.

President Truman does not belong in such a happy category. When he was a senator, he explained that he had made Mrs. Truman his chief clerk because he couldn't get by on his senatorial salary alone.

Since the turn of the century, only one former president has been in the spotlight almost constantly. That was Teddy Roosevelt, advocate of "the strenuous life." He retired from the presidency in March 1909 and a few weeks later was on the way to Africa on a scientific expedition sponsored by the Smithsonian Institution.

His journey to Europe was a triumphal procession. He was received by the Pope. He lectured at the Sorbonne, in Paris, on "Citizenship in a Republic," spoke in Berlin at the University on "The World Movement," and, at Kaiser Wilhelm II's side, reviewed the Imperial Guard, the first civilian who ever had received German troops.

Before he reached England, King Edward VII died, and Roosevelt went to London as President Taft's special ambassador for the royal funeral. He lectured at Oxford University on "Biological Analogies in History."

Returning to the U.S. in June, 1910, Roosevelt received a tumultuous New York welcome. He was thoroughly in touch with the political situation—the split between the conservative and progressive elements of the Republican party. His political views were aired in the Outlook, a weekly periodical to which he was contributing editor.

Two years later he organized the Progressive party and ran for president against William Howard Taft and Woodrow Wilson. Wilson obtained 6,293,097 votes while Roosevelt got 4,119,517.

Roosevelt was shot during the campaign, but recovered. He advocated recall of elected officials, referendum on legislation and recall of judicial decisions, which alienated conservatives.

In 1916 he left the Progressives and supported Charles Evans Hughes. A strong friend of Britain, he fought American isolation. In 1917 President Wilson declined to let him organize a division for overseas service.

Roosevelt was a prolific writer, the American equivalent of Winston Churchill. As a naturalist and hunter his talents were outstanding.

Before the 1920 presidential campaign he was looked upon as the certain Republican nominee, but died in January 1919.

Roosevelt's successor in the presidency, Taft, also lived a very active life after his retirement in 1913. He was named Kent Professor of Constitutional Law at Yale University, but also devoted much time to lecturing. In the same year he was elected president of the American Bar Association, and in the next year became first president of the American Institute of Jurisprudence, organized to improve law and its administration.

Taft was an active promoter of the league to enforce peace, but after U.S. entry into World War I he supported the administration, taking the view that victory was essential to the attainment of lasting peace. In 1918 he was appointed by President Wilson as a member of the National War Labor Board for the arbitration of labor disputes. In 1919 he endorsed the Treaty of Versailles, regarding its most important part to be the covenant of the League of Nations.

Taft spoke throughout the nation on behalf of the League of Nations, urging reservations if necessary to assure ratification. He supported Warren Harding for the presidency in 1920.

He was appointed chief justice of the U.S. by Harding in 1921, whereupon he resigned his Yale professorship. He continued as chief justice until 1930, when illness forced him to resign. Taft also was a man of means.

Woodrow Wilson, an invalid when he left the White House, after retirement lived quietly in Washington, refraining from all political comment. He formed a law partnership with Bainbridge Colby, his last secretary of state, but did not practice.

Wilson's last public appearance was on Armistice Day, 1923, when he greeted his admirers with a short speech from the porch of his house.

Calvin Coolidge, also, spent the remaining years of his life quietly. He bought a 12-room house, "The Beeches," near Northampton, Mass. His autobiography was published in magazine installments in 1929 and then in book form. In 1930-31 he wrote a syndicated series of brief daily comments on current affairs, preaching individualism, economy and laissez-faire.

He became a director of the New York Life Insurance Co., and also was active as a trustee of Amherst College. He was president of the American Antiquarian Society (1930-32). Coolidge retained his old law office, Coolidge & Hemmaway, at Northampton, but only to receive mail.

Hoover, only living ex-president—until after next January—has continued his interest in party and public affairs and managed his varied business ventures. President Truman appointed him coordinator of the European food program in 1946 and to the German food program in the next year.

He also served as chairman of the Committee on Reorganization of the U.S. Executive Departments. Hoover established the library on war, revolution and peace at Stanford University. Over this he maintains a watchful interest.

So, like his predecessors, President Truman may find plenty to do after he leaves the White House.

Moderns And The 3 R's

By HARRISON W. FRY

The battle of the Three R's still rages. Children can't read, write or do arithmetic as well as their parents and grandparents, is the oft-repeated challenge of some oldtimers.

So the teachers have been digging up old report cards and records in a country-wide survey.

Now they come back with the challenge—"The children today who are taught by modern methods outstrip their parents and their grandparents when achievements at given grade levels then and now are compared."

A number of research studies have been made by the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development of the National Education Association. All these studies, the Association reports, show the superiority in the Three R's of the present generation in our schools.

Instead of disparaging the fundamental Three R's, as they have been charged with doing, the educators say in their study: "Children and adults today have greater need than ever before in history for competence in the so-called Three R's."

The deeply ingrained idea of some parents and some teachers that all children should be able to read, write and do arithmetic at the same age has done a grave injustice to children, the ASCD points out in its study, "The Three R's in the elementary school," just completed.

"It seems amazing that in our culture there is a firmly entrenched opinion that all children should be able to read by the time they are seven years old," the report says, "or to know fractions by the time they are 10. Research shows that in almost any first-grade room with 30 children there will be about 10 who probably would read more effectively at 12 years of age if they were not pressured into attempting to read in the first grade."

Children have different rates of growth and girls mature faster than boys.

If a child is working up to his capacity, it is useless and wasteful, the educators say, to place him in a remedial class which tries to force him beyond his level. Growth cannot be forced. To attempt to force it is to cause maladjustment.

Rather than add to the child's frustrations by insisting that he achieve at a certain level, the teachers and parent needs to try and understand his insecurity or to recognize that his behavior is caused by fear, the study points out.

An obvious way of building a child's sense of security is to show skill or achievement the child possesses.

Children are different and schools should be planned on that basis rather than in the early growing periods attempting to squeeze them all into the same mold at the same age.

Coming Events Cast Their Shadows Before

The Universal OPA

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Earl of Jowitt, who is about to publish a book in defense of Alger Hiss, has already produced a preliminary article on the subject which gives his point of view. He almost reminds me of a female Hissite who came up with the theory that Alger Hiss was all the time an agent for our government, who had away his superiors!

The earl battles with a firmer pen if not with greater logic. First of all, he sets out to give the impression, in polite but nonetheless sure language, that Chambers is mad. He does not say so, for in England that would undoubtedly be libel per se, as the earl is only a lawyer and not a psychiatrist.

NEVERTHELESS, as one reads what the Earl has to say, it is difficult to believe that he does not desire to convince that Chambers is mad. He says:

"But Mr. Chambers has no misgivings. He is right—and all who differ from him are wrong. He sees himself as the modern St. George, clad in shining armor and engaged in deadly combat with the dragon of Communism. As for the case, it is not a mere case in which an individual called Chambers is testifying against an individual called Hiss. It is a tragedy of history. The generation is on trial and Chambers is a witness to God's Grace."

"The contest is a contest between the forces of good (as represented by Chambers) and the forces of evil (as represented by Hiss); and what is involved in the contest is the soul of the American people—indeed of the whole free world."

How wrong is Chambers? There is something of the devil in any man who sells out his own country. Chambers did it, repented and tried to make amends. The greatest cost of this psychological process is the acknowledgment of a wasted self.

HISS, EQUALLY GUILTY, if not more so, proudly continues to deny what he knows to be true; is wholly unrepentant, makes no amends.

Suppose every word that Chambers said of Hiss were untrue, it would be possible to reconstruct the Hiss story from what we now know of the Harold Ware cell in Washington, its infiltration into the AAA and the Nye and La Follette committees.

Jowitt is moving into a mare's nest, for, a lawyer, he deals only with the record before him. But the public will deal with the whole record, much of which has been unavailable because the administration prevented its use.

What the earl is going to do, when he comes here to lecture, as I am told he intends to do in grand form, is that he will stimulate a congressional demand for the whole record.

The earl's article, from which I quote, raises questions which for most Americans have been answered, but the gist of this learned jurist's analysis of the subject is an ad hominem attack on Chambers, not only to establish that he is mad but that it is a form of congenital madness. That was tried during the Hiss trials by the psychiatrist, Dr. Carl A. L. Binger, with sad results for Binger.

IT WOULD seem from the context that Jowitt has taken his cue from Alistair Cooke's book, "A Generation On Trial," a book which, at the time it was published, I was tempted to review but resisted the temptation because it seemed to me that here was a British reporter who had long been in America and learned too little about its people, most of whom do not live on Park Avenue. Cooke is now an American citizen and by law has become one of us.

When Jowitt's book appears in this country, if ever, I shall reread Cooke to see how one has influenced the other. Meanwhile, I found a clipping of a review by Miss Rebecca West in which she says:

"So Mr. Cooke goes on, always creating an impression unfavourable to Chambers and favourable to Hiss, in big things and in small. It might be that the committee would have shown prejudice against Hiss in listening to Chambers if his story about the espionage group has been unrelated to any known persons or events."

It is possible that Mr. Cooke does not know that the FBI had this case sewed up long before it came to trial and that the administration prevented the usual judicial course from flowing.

By TRUMAN TWILL

A new cabinet for a new president of the United States will be announced in the near future. It has been promised that government by mediocrities will cease.

Qualifications of the new cabinet officers will be combed over as thoroughly as a $75 pup who has been harboring fleas. But as usual, what should be one of the indispensable qualifications of a well-balanced cabinet will be ignored.

Presidents and cabinet members are handicapped sooner or later by getting out of touch with the people whose government they are running. It starts to happen when they lose contact with voters.

Many of the men chosen for cabinet jobs never had any contact with voters in the first place. Some have been out of contact so long they feel like patronizing the working stiff who can throw a government out of power when they figure it has worn out its welcome. It is not unusual for high government officials to be in contempt of the people, heaven help them.

There is no way to restore the common touch to someone who never had it or quit using it. But there is a way to keep the common touch from being bred out of government by over-emphasis on an aristocracy of accomplishment.

One member of the presidential cabinet should be responsible for representing the common, ordinary people—the American working class, meaning everybody who must go to work whether or not he feels like it.

Twelve plain citizens of the United States should hold this cabinet job each year in rotation—a month at a time. Any longer than that would corrode and corrupt them. Power always has that effect.

Besides, by changing the spokesman for the plain citizens each month, the sovereign people of the United States would have a fighting chance to be represented accurately. They could do no worse than come up with a dozen assorted screwballs in a row.

Selection would be left up to local government. It would work this way:

A certain number of names of incorporated places and rural areas would be chosen each month and placed in a jury wheel. The first name to be drawn would be required to choose its most representative plain citizen by means of a five-member committee appointed by the local mayor, local board of commissioners, or whatever governing group or agent was in charge.

The person selected would receive $1,000 and expenses. His job would be to listen to all proposals discussed in presidential cabinet meetings and comment on them. The comment would be compulsory. So would the listening on the part of other cabinet members.

The cabinet-member-for-a-month would have only one function in this republic—to keep the political powers-that-be from taking off in all directions like big birds flapping their wings and their gums as if they thought they had repealed the law of gravity by unilateral resolution.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Letter From Korea

Dear Gen. Eisenhower: Well, I see you are coming to Korea, and that is strictly okay by me. It will give the boys a big lift. Nobody expects you to pass a miracle, end the war or put an "Opened by Mistake" sign on the Korean shindig. You will not make the mountains any less steep. You won't bring any new weapons or even get us fewer potatoes in the Army beef stew. But a president of the United States can bring us something else. He can bring us fresh hope and confidence and the swell feeling that comes with a proof of all-out interest and concern.

When we sight you overhead it won't be just like we are looking at it. . . . It will be the folks at home, Uncle Sam in person, Yankee Doodle and a top guy who is not too busy to bother.

I am not saying President Truman doesn't feel as deeply for us as you or anybody else, but just seeing you will record this interest in a pretty visible way.

It will just show us you rate Old Baldy as important as the budget, put Sniper Ridge ahead of inaugural plans and find nothing in Washington, New York, Columbia Heights or Gettysburg that has a higher place in your heart than Triangle Hill and Heartbreak Ridge.

It seems one hell of a long distance out here away from home and extra far away from presidents past, present and future. We hear a lot from them but we don't see them.

When any Number One Guy takes the trouble to come out with a sincere "I want to see what goes on for myself," it does something for the GI spirit.

Pay no attention to that stuff about a grandstand play or a foolish journey to get headlines. Your visit will bring a flash of home, sweet home, a large hunk of personal concern and a sort of message that the U.S.A. rates what goes on in Death Valley and the punch bowl as interesting as the Saturday football game, the winter outlook for Florida resorts, the price of new auto models and the next Madison Square boxing bout.

You are not just a next president of the United States but a certified expert with more war experience and "know-how" about how to get out of tough spots than maybe any other man in the world. No GI can look at you flying overhead and think it's just another politician or congressman who wants to join the free airplane service and see the world.

Every guy in Korea will know it's Ike Eisenhower and that he ain't on a joy ride or a publicity trip.

This is one lulu of a hassel with the GI's up against the toughest routines ever seen by man or beast in war or peace.

I read all about some of them great battles of history but I will swap most any one of them for a few night around Old Baldy. The only thing that makes it possible to stand the gaff is the belief somebody back home really cares.

Make it soon, Ike. A lot of the boys may not be around when you get here. They'd all like to see you. Somehow or other they are certain your journey won't be a dry run.

Sincerely, Joe.

Lookalikes: Ike Eisenhower and "Red" Barber. . . . We understand that both the general and the President were extra heavy red flannels for that White House contact.

Gaylord Hauser is for the return of the rocking chair to American life. . . . Says grandma and grandpop worked off a lot of tenseness that way, whereas we moderns worry in stiff chairs and just tighten up.

It was testified that some judges pay $25,000 for appointments to the bench in New York. . . . What's the down payment? . . . We've always wanted a little court we could call our own.

Mamie Eisenhower and Bess Truman will huddle any day now so that the new first lady can get a briefing on operating the White House, with special emphasis on the kitchen. . . . The first thing Mamie will want to do is open the icebox and throw out the cold cuts that Harry kept on hand for Ike during the campaign.

Chicago has practically been taken over by the batteries of lawyers serving in the suit of the government against duPont, all the little duPonts and the papa and mommer bear duPonts. . . . The suit is being pressed just to make sure no big business is permitted to get along with minimum harassment.

Rudy Halley, whose voice became known to millions of video fans in the Kefauver quiz, will start a New York program a la the late Fiorello LaGuardia, and he has the politicians worried stiff.

Looking Backward

From The News Files

FORTY YEARS AGO—Petitions were circulated in Salem for the enactment of two laws, one prohibiting the shipment of liquor into dry territory for beverage purposes, and the other providing for the removal from office of county officials found guilty of malfeasance.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO—A rumor has been circulating regarding a steel merger involving the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company and several other concerns.

Humphrey Plans
FEPC BattleSenator To Again
Seek Law Passage

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today that during the next Congress he will vigorously renew the fight for a federal law to forbid racial and other discrimination in employment.

Humphrey said he will refuse to soft-pedal the fair employment practices commission (FEPC) issue in the interest of harmony between Northern and Southern Democrats.

"We won't have Democratic solidarity on some issues and this is one of them," he told a reporter. He said he doubts that the rebellion of Southern Democrats against demands by some Northerners for such a law was much of a factor in the Democrat's election reversals this year.

Humphrey heads the Senate labor subcommittee which yesterday released a report which said a survey shows that state and local laws with teeth to forbid job discrimination against minorities have had "healthy" results.

The report was written by Dr. Morroe Berger, assistant professor of sociology at Princeton University, at the request of the subcommittee. Humphrey indicated it would be used extensively by advocates of similar federal legislation.

The report said that experience in seven states and two cities, which have had fair employment practices laws since 1945 has indicated the statutes eliminated discriminatory practices with a minimum of dissension.

Berger said the laws in each case were adopted over the protests of employers generally in those areas.

The enforcing agencies, he said, "have moved cautiously in administering the law and their approach has convinced many employers that the law is not intended to harass them x x x and that, indeed, the law benefits them by enlarging the labor market."

Berger's report listed the states as Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Oregon, Rhode Island and Washington and the cities as Minneapolis and Philadelphia.

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP)—Sir William Henry Clark, former British high commissioner to Canada and South Africa, died on Saturday, it was announced today. He was 77.

Boy, 2½ Lost 24
Hours In Woods

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)—A 2½-year-old boy who started out to feed the plump turkey destined for his family's Thanksgiving Day dinner and lost himself in rain-swept woods for nearly 24 hours, is safe today in a warm hospital.

George (Butch) Bell of nearby Avella wandered away from his home Saturday. He was clad in blue jeans and a T-shirt.

A search party yesterday found the youngster, soaked from rain and scratched from underbrush, huddled in a dense thicket about 2½ miles from his home.

The boy's 22-year-old mother fainted as she clasped him. She said:

"I got hold of him and held him tight. Then I passed out. I nearly dropped him, I guess."

Doctors at Washington Community Hospital said the boy seemingly is well but detained him for observation.

Air Force Sets Up New Cadet Training Policy

The Air Force has established a new policy whereby any veteran undergoing aviation cadet training may be discharged from the service if eliminated from flying training. T-Sgt. Wallace Daffner, local recruiter, announced today.

Any person who has served a minimum of one complete tour of duty in any branch of the armed forces of the United States and is qualified for aviation cadet training may enlist for that specific purpose. In the past, any person in this category was required to serve the remainder of his two-year enlistment.

This policy does not reduce the qualifications for cadet training. Applicants are still required to have a minimum of two years college, successfully complete the physical examination and the Aircrew Classification Test Battery to be accepted.

For more complete information, contact T-Sgt. Daffner at the Salem postoffice.

Faye Hawthorne And Lee Lynn Married In Sunday Ceremony

Southern sunshine has enticed Faye Louise Hawthorne and Lee J. Lynn who were married Sunday at 3 o'clock in the sanctuary of St. Jacob's Evangelical and Reformed Church. The newlyweds left after the reception for a honeymoon trip to Florida.

Rev. E. D. Fager, church pastor, heard the exchange of vows in the double-ring ceremony. The in lovers' knots was carried by the bride on a white Bible. Also complementing her gown of Chantilly lace was the single strand of pearls she wore, the groom's gift. Lace was applied to the sheer yoke of the fitted bodice and the full sweeping ballerina skirt was worn over satin. Seed pearls studied the bride's nylon cap which held in place her fingertip veil of illusion.

The ballerina gown worn by Mrs. Walter Mullen, matron of honor, was styled of lace in a toast shade over mint green taffeta. Yellow pompons were used in the colonial bouquet she carried.

Elbert Lynn served his brother. Serving were Mrs. Kenneth Sebbell, Jack and Wilbur Hawthorne and Fred Lynn.

Mrs. Hawthorne wore a blue suit of ribbed acetate. Her accessories were black and her corsage contained red roses. Mrs. Lynn had tallisman roses in her corsage to contrast with her wine acetate dress and brown accessories.

The reception in the church was arranged for 200 guests from Salem, Akron, Columbiana, Youngstown, Richmond, North Lima, Warren, Canfield, and Springfield.

Lace covered the table where the ornate three-tiered wedding cake was the center of attraction. Serving were Mrs. Kenneth Sebbell, Mrs. Wilbur Hawthorne, Mrs. Kenneth Lough and Misses Clara Margaret and Virginia Hawthorne.

For their Florida trip the new Mrs. Lynn traveled in a white wool jersey suit and navy accessories and wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet. The couple will make their home in Lisbon.

The bride graduated from David Anderson High School in Lisbon in 1947 and the groom graduated from Fairfield Centralized High School in 1943. She is employed as secretary by the Firestone Bank in Columbiana and her husband is an employee of the A. J. Baltes Construction Co.

THIS YEAR'S GAY CHRISTMAS PARTIES will be adorned with girls in shining white. Holiday collections show white to be the predominant color, a gleaming white that's iced with the sparkle of rhinestones and the glitter of crystals.

Evening dresses for the holiday whirl have the softer look, achieved in fabrics like pure silk chiffon. There are skirts that float as you dance and fall into graceful folds when you stand still. Stoles are most often attached and can be draped many ways for an equal number of enchanting effects.

Bodices, too, show the new softness in draped folds or shirred panels. Jeweled embroidery is used to best advantage here in combinations of crystal, bugle beads, pearls, rhinestones or coral.

For juniors and the more sophisticated teens, subdued colors like "desert white" look pretty. There are also the rich reds and glowing greens and blues.

Buffant skirts get help from crinoline underpinnings, and necklines vary from the very high to modest scoops. These young dressers are at their prettiest in antique silk taffeta, plain silk taffeta and taffetized silk shantung.

The great ball gowns for really elaborate affairs are pencil-slim or dramatically bouffant and often have gigantic floor-length stoles. These gowns get the luxury silk satins, peau de soie or silk faille.

Columar evening gown (left) is pure silk taffeta in white and is jeweled in crystal, coral and pearls. Flaring floor-length panels fall from a swath hipline.

Formal beauty (right) is peacock green pure silk taffeta. One-strap bodice has two large roses in the same fabric, is boned and pleated.

Miss Phyllis Virginia Flick Wed To Robert Lee Gibson

The third Friday in November, 1952 was the day of the wedding of Phyllis Virginia Flick and Robert Lee Gibson, Rev. George D. Keister officiated at the evening ceremony performed at 7:30 in the sanctuary of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church.

Palms were used in the chancel setting and white mums were the altar flowers when the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Flick of Fair Ave. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Patterson of Jennings Ave. pledged their vows in the double-ring service.

"Because" and "Through the Years" were the nuptial songs sung by Miss Joann Copacia. Miss Ruth Hoch, church organist, accompanied Miss Copacia and sounded the notes of the wedding march, heralding the bridal party.

The bride, who was escorted to the altar by her father, wore a suit of gray rayon orlon, with navy blue accessories. The white orchid she carried was arranged on her white Bible.

Miss Judy Jackson was bridesmaid in a fall suit in an ice blue shade. Her nosegay of red roses contrasted with the black accessories which completed her costume.

William Dickey of Salem served Mr. Gibson as best man. Ushers were William Huston of East Palestine and Roy Nichols of Salem.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Flick chose a brown crepe dress with winter white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mrs. Patterson wore a green wool suit with white accessories and a pink rose corsage.

The newlyweds greeted 125 guests at the reception in the home of the bride's parents. People were present from Salem, Youngstown, Akron, East Palestine, Columbiana, Petersburg and North Carolina.

Wedding bells adorned the four-tiered cake decorated in white with pink roses. Serving the guests were Miss Dorothy Stanley, Miss Joan Robinson, Miss Mary Alessi and Miss Patricia Drotleff. Miss Sue Menegos presided at the guest book.

The bride wore her wedding outfit for their brief honeymoon trip and the couple are now at home at 194 Fair Ave.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Gibson graduated from Salem High School. She is employed at McBane-McArtor Drug Store, while her husband is an employee of the Schnell Tool and Die Co.

Jeanne Gabriel Is Bride Of Edward Weber

Rev. W. W. Maund, pastor of St. Patrick Church, Leetonia, officiated at the double-ring ceremony there Saturday morning, which united in marriage Miss Jeanne A. Gabriel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gabriel of Leetonia, and Edward W. Weber, son of Mrs. Martin Weber of Salem and the late Martin Weber.

The bride wore a gown of nylon tulle and rose point type lace fashioned with a wing collar, fitted bodice, tapering sleeves and a bouffant hooped skirt which was paneled with lace in the front.

Her cathedral train was edged with lace, and the veil was attached to a cloche embellished with seed pearls. She carried a mother-of-pearl prayerbook with a white orchid.

Mrs. Carmen Ferry, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of coralberry nylon tulle and velveteen with a portrait neckline, fitted and shirred bodice and draped skirt. A matching velvet jacket and coronet completed the ensemble. She carried yellow pompons and roses.

Eugene Gabriel, twin brother of the bride, was best man. Martin Weber and Carmen Ferry were ushers.

A reception was held at the O.S. I. hall in Leetonia. Upon their return from a honeymoon trip to New York City, the newlyweds will reside on Vine St. in Salem. Both are employed by the Mullins Manufacturing Corp.

The groom served three years with the Navy in World War II.

Marguerite Piazza, singing star, uses belts as one of the accessories that help keep her well-groomed. In charcoal gray flannel skirt and jersey blouse, worn with a red leather belt, she arranges flowers in the morning (above center). Later (above right) she greets her afternoon guests, having changed to a red faille laced belt. For an evening party she wears (above left) a silk skirt and stole with black velvet halter, belted in white.

7 Teams Deadlocked For Lead In NFL

4 Tied In National Division; 3 In American; Browns Lose

CLEVELAND (AP)—If you're rooting for one of the 12 National League football teams, the odds are 7 to 5 your team is one of the leaders today.

For with only three weeks of the NFL schedule remaining, four teams, San Francisco, Detroit, Green Bay and Los Angeles, are tied for the top position in the National Conference, each with six victories and three defeats. And three clubs, Cleveland, New York and Philadelphia, are deadlocked for the No. 1 spot in the American Division, also with 6-3 records.

The four-way standoff in the National Conference is certain to last only a couple of days. Green Bay and Detroit are scheduled to clash on Thursday in the Lions' home den and the winner will sit down for turkey dinner with the undisputed lead.

The conference top slots really will be up for grabs next Sunday, when Los Angeles, for the second straight week, clashes with San Francisco. Cleveland tangles with the Washington Redskins, the New York Giants travel to Pittsburgh, and the Philadelphia Eagles take on the Chicago Cardinals.

The Rams climaxed a remarkable recovery from their early season impotency Sunday by vanquishing the 49ers, 35-9, in Los Angeles. A crowd of 77,968 jammed the Coliseum to see the defending champions easily record their fifth straight triumph.

At Green Bay, the surprising Packers picked up their fourth straight victory at the expense of the Dallas Texans, 42-14. The home team, in dropping their ninth consecutive tilt, offered little resistance to the revitalized Packers.

The Detroit Lions, tied for the lead with San Francisco last week, came a cropper against the Chicago Bears 24-23 in a windy City thriller. The Bears' George Blanda, with only eight seconds left to play and his team trailing 23-17, pitched a one-yard touchdown toss to Ed Sprinkle for the deciding points.

Blanda was a one man show, heaving for two other touchdowns and booting a 26-yard field goal. The highlight of the Detroit offense was a 79-yard run back of a punt by Jack Christiansen. That dash put the Lions in front with only two minutes to go.

At Cleveland, the Eagles came from behind with two fourth-quarter scores to upset the Browns, 28-20, with rookie Ralph Goldston plunging across for both touchdowns. Frank Ziegler, on a three-yard plunge, and Bob Walston, taking a 12-yard pass from Bobby Thomason, also scored for the Eagles.

The New York Giants, who went without a touchdown against Green Bay last week, were held scoreless by Washington for almost three periods but finally overcame a 10-0 Redskins lead to win, 14-10. The rapidly improving Pittsburgh Steelers, playing at home, edged the Chicago Cardinals, 17-14, in a game which didn't mean much in the standings.

A long smoldering fire—finally fanned by a brilliant play—dropped Cleveland back into a tie for first place in the American Division. That's how Coach Paul Brown explains the beating the rebounding Philadelphia Eagles hung on his club.

Brown said the Eagles were "an inspired, charging team." "We weren't flat," he continued. "They were just a hellava fine club."

The smoldering fire mentions began in 1950, the year the Browns joined the National League after terrorizing the now defunct All-American Conference for four seasons.

Philadelphia, champs until then, absorbed five straight wallpings from the Browns before coming from behind for Sunday's upset.

The play that ignited the Eagles came in the third period with the Browns ahead, 20-14, and apparently on the way to another victory. Bobby Thomason, Philadelphia quarterback, pitched a lateral to Fred Enke who flipped a pass to Bob Walston. The play went 65 yards to the Browns nine before safety man Bert Rechichar fell on the end who had been tripped by Rex Bumgardner.

Cleveland held for four downs at that point but was never again in the game and 12 plays later Philadelphia had the clinching touchdown.

Goldston, a rookie halfback from Youngstown, scored the last two Philadelphia touchdowns on plunges of one and a half yards and two yards, winding up drives of 41 and 56 yards.

Philadelphia's first two six-pointers, in the opening period, resulted from Brown miscues.

Cleveland's Horace Gillom got off a bad punt which went a scant 19 yards to the Browns 37 — and eight plays later Frank Ziegler rounded end and zoomed into the end zone from three yards out.

Then Cleveland's Otto Graham tossed a pass which Chuck Bednarik intercepted and ran back 14 yards, to the Cleveland 23 — and four plays later Thomason passed to Walston for 12 yards and the tally.

From then until that lateral-and-a-pass the game belonged to Cleveland. The Browns, still in the first quarter, marched 75 yards on six plays—the last a 28-yard touchdown aerial from Graham to Mac Speedie.

Graham flipped to Speedie again in the third period for a 48-yard touchdown. The end, as neglected as a wallflower, caught the ball on the 20 and ran over untouched.

Lou Groza, adding to league kicking records he already held, booted two field goals and a pair of conversions. That makes him 16 field goals for the season and 96 league conversions without a miss. The game ended the Browns' regular home season and the 21-948 who turned out ran the attendance total to 240,175, the best for the Browns since 1948.

Bivins Predicts KO Over Ezzard Charles

CHICAGO (AP)—Both Jimmy Bivins and his manager were bursting with confidence today that the Cleveland cloutier will score an upset knockout victory Wednesday night over Ezzard Charles, former heavyweight champion.

"He's sharp," Bivins' manager, Alie Zack, declared as he watched the veteran box three rounds Sunday with two sparring mates.

"I'm confident we'll spring an upset and beat Charles," Zack added. "Then we'll go after a match with Rex Layne."

Bivins was even more confident. He said he wants a fight with Layne "after I knock Charles out."

The bout will be at 10 p. m. EST Wednesday in the Chicago Stadium. It will be broadcast and telecast nationally by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

2 Major Bowl Spots Unfilled

Purdue Or Wisconsin To Go To Rose Classic

NEW YORK (AP)—Only two major bowl spots remained unfilled today and both were expected to be filled before nightfall.

The Big Ten representative for the Rose Bowl will be either Wisconsin or Purdue while Alabama's opponent in the Orange Bowl probably will be Navy or Syracuse.

All the others are filled. Southern California clinched the Pacific Coast nod in the Rose Bowl with a 14-12 victory over UCLA Saturday, while Georgia Tech and Mississippi will meet in the Sugar Bowl and Texas will play Tennessee in the Cotton Bowl.

Big Ten athletic directors were being polled for their choice for the West Coast assignment, and although the voting was in strictest secrecy, the chances were that Wisconsin would get the assignment because:

1. The Badgers have a better overall record than Purdue.

2. Wisconsin has not won the league championship since 1912.

Whichever team goes, though, will face an unenviable task because Southern California will rule the heavy favorite as it would over almost any team in the country with one or two possible exceptions.

The fact that Wisconsin has a chance of being left out is the Badgers' own fault. All they had to do Saturday was beat Minnesota, a team beaten three times and tied once. But the Badgers were held to a 21-21 tie, while Purdue was eking out a 21-16 victory over six-times-beaten Indiana. The Boilermakers, in fact, were saved by the clock running out and a five-yard penalty to Indiana on the Purdue 1-yard line.

Both Wisconsin and Purdue obviously were somewhat nervous as was Michigan, which was whipped by Ohio State, 27-7. Had the Wolverines won as expected, they would have had it. Now they're just among the also rans.

Until yesterday, the Orange Bowl was sitting back just watching and waiting. But Alabama's beautifully contrived 27-7 triumph over Maryland made the selectors jump for the Crimson Tide. Although beaten twice, Alabama played a murderous schedule, and still has one game to go, this Saturday against Auburn.

Navy, beaten only by Maryland and Notre Dame, popped into the speculation late last night. The Middles have played in only one bowl game before—in 1924 in the Rose Bowl, when they tied Washington, 14-14. What set off the speculation of Navy making the trip south was an unusual Sunday conference among high academy brass, coach Eddie Ederlatz and Athletic Director Ian Eddy.

Syracuse, probably the class of the East, got beaten by one point in its season opener against Bowling Air Force Base, then roared through seven opponents, winding up with a 26-13 victory over Fordham Saturday. Along the way, the Orange took its only bad plastering—a 48-7 loss to Michigan State.

Pitt, another team that was rated high on the list of Orange Bowl eligibles, saw its chances go up in the smoke of a 17-0 whitewashing at the hands of Penn State.

Otherwise, you can just about write this to the 1952 campaign. There are a few more games on tap the most important of which is the Cornell-Penn affair Thanksgiving Day. If Penn wins it, as it should, the Quakers will take the Ivy League title.

Texas A & M plays Texas the same day, while on Saturday, Boston Colleges goes against Holy Cross, Georgia Tech tackles Georgia, Tennessee meets Vanderbilt and Southern California visits Notre Dame.

Michigan State, the No. 1 team in the country, cemented its position by closing the books with a 62-15 thrashing of Marquette. Tennessee, however, was held to a 14-14 tie by Kentucky in a surprise. Duke won the Southern Conference title by thrashing North Carolina, 34-0, and Oklahoma captured its fifth straight Big Seven crown with a 34-13 rout of Nebraska.

Missouri Halfback Leads U. S. Scorers

NEW YORK (AP)—Al Conway, hard-running halfback of William Jewell (Mo.), is almost certain to wind up as collegiate football's scoring leader for 1952.

Conway, with one game remaining on his team's schedule, paces the country's top scorers with 121 points. Al has tallied 20 times and has kicked one point after touchdown.

William Jewell was idle last week-end but Conway maintained his 11-point edge over runner-up Mac Moore of Sam Houston State. The latter school already has completed its grid season.

The only player who seems to have a chance of catching Conway is Jack Parker of Mississippi State who has 106 points to his credit. The Maroons still have one game left, against Mississippi on Nov. 29.

Sam Snead Leads Julius Boros Open

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C. (AP)—Sammy Snead, who has won an impressive list of golf tournaments but still is shooting for his first U. S. Open crown, seems bent on making the Julius Boros Open tournament the Sam Snead open.

The 54-hole $5,000 event, held in honor of the reigning U. S. open champion Julius Boros, went into its second round today with the slugging man from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., top man in the field of 107.

Boros, unable to sink a putt when it meant a birdie, settled for a two under 70, to share third place with six others, including Leo Biagetti, Sandusky, O.

OSU To Select Captain Tonight

Buckeyes Face Tough Schedule Next Year

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Ohio State's gridders name their 1953 captain tonight and the top candidates for the boss of the Bucks are end Bob Joslin of Middletown and All-Big-Ten tackle George Jacoby of Toledo.

The upcoming captain will be announced at the annual Appreciation Dinner on the campus tonight. Next year he'll join Coach Woody Hayes in leading the Ohioans through one of the toughest schedules ever faced by the Buckeyes.

Starting Sept. 26, Ohio meets Indiana here, California away, Illinois here, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin on the road, Northwestern, Michigan State and Purdue here, and Michigan at Ann Arbor on successive Saturdays.

Joslin scored the first two touchdowns in Saturday's 27-7 win over Michigan — as many six-pointers as Ohio State had scored against the Wolverines in seven previous seasons. Jacoby, who intercepted a pass to set up the final touchdown, has been outstanding on offense and defense all year. Joslin and Jacoby play side by side on offense.

Four of the 1952 offensive starters and seven of the first string defenders will be missing from the 1953 edition but they wound up their college chores in a blaze of glory after an in-and-out campaign.

The victory over Michigan was the first in eight years and it kept the Wolverines out of the Rose Bowl and off the Big Ten throne.

While the Bucks were upsetting favored Michigan, Ohio University was being held to a 21-21 deadlock by Marshall's Thundering Herd in the only other Saturday contest involving a Buckeye club. The result left the Ohio colleges with a record of 55 victories, 31 losses and 4 ties and a scoring edge of 1,923 to 1,262 for 90 inter-state contests.

Only three games remain on the 1953 schedule, Thanksgiving Day sending Miami against Cincinnati for the Mid-American Conference championship, Case Tech against Western Reserve and Dayton against Chattanooga.

Dayton, a 14-13 loser to Xavier Nov. 2, avenged that loss by whipping the Musketeers 13-0 Sunday at Cincinnati. The Flyers played the state's only 11 game schedule.

Ohio State Places 4 On All-Big 10 Squad

CHICAGO (AP)—A wide-open season that saw virtually every team get in a top caliber lick or two is reflected in the 1952 Associated Press All-Big Ten football squad.

Every school in the conference is represented on the first offense—defense platoons, selected with the cooperation of Big Ten coaches.

Ohio State won four berths; Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Purdue and Illinois three each, and Northwestern, Iowa and Indiana one each.

Minnesota's great halfback, Paul Giel, was the only unanimous choice. He is a repeater from last year's honor team.

Closest battles were at offensive end and quarterback. Illinois' Tommy O'Connell won the pilot post on the basis of a record-shattering aerial performance. Purdue's Dale Samuels and Michigan's Ted Topor were close runnersup.

Joe Collier, of Northwestern, was named to the first offense.

Directors of athletics of the conference members Sunday sent their choices to Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, Big Ten commissioner. He will announce the selection today at 1 p. m. EST.

Presumably the contest was between Purdue and Wisconsin, co-champions in a zany season which left no conference team unbeaten. Ohio State, however, has been mentioned as a possible candidate.

The Buckeyes finished third and own a victory over Wisconsin, although beaten by Purdue.

The only thing that seemed certain was that a winner had been chosen. There was said to have been no call for a second ballot, as there would have been in case of a deadlock.

Theoretically, any one of eight teams could be chosen, but custom dictates that the top eligible team be selected.

All members were eligible except Illinois, which can't be the nominee because it went to the Rose Bowl last year. Under the present agreement, the same team can't make two consecutive trips.

The conference race ended in an unpredictable scramble Saturday with upsets such as have been the rule all season.

Michigan lost its chance at the league crown by losing to Ohio State, 27-7. Wisconsin backed into its share of the title by tying Minnesota, 21-21. Purdue squeaked past Indiana, 21-16, although a pass interception in the last 16 seconds ended an Indiana drive on Purdue's two-yard line. Northwestern drubbed Illinois, 28-26, coming from behind in the final five seconds.

Indiana's Gene Gedman scored a touchdown Saturday and edged out two Northwestern stars for the Big Ten scoring championship.

The Hoosier fullback scored 54 points in nine games against conference and non-conference opponents.

The Wildcats' Chuck Hren, fullback, and Joe Collier, end, each wound up with 48 points.

The three leaders accumulated all their points on touchdowns, Collier's coming on the end of scoring heaves. Both Collier and Hren accounted for a tally in Northwestern's upset of Illinois.

Fit for a King Pie Has Chocolate Filling

A glamorous pie no husband can resist, this pie is fit for a king. Its rich chocolate filling, topped with whipped cream, grated fresh coconut and appealing chocolate curls will be a favorite with everyone, too, once they taste its lusciousness.

REGAL CREAM-ON-CHOCOLATE PIE

- 1 teaspoon gelatin
- 2 tablespoons cold water
- 1 oz. chocolate (cut in pieces)
- 1 1/4 cups milk
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs, separated
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 1/2 cups heavy cream
- 1 cup grated fresh coconut
- 1 baked pie shell

Make pie shell. Soften gelatin in cold water. Melt chocolate in milk in top of double boiler; blend with rotary egg beater. Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt. Add to chocolate mixture and cook until thick and smooth, then cook 15 minutes longer, stirring constantly.

Beat egg yolks well. Stir small amount of chocolate mixture into egg yolks, return to double boiler, and cook a few minutes longer. Add butter or margarine, vanilla and gelatin mixture; mix well. Cool. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites.

Whip half cup of cream, and fold into chocolate mixture. Pour into pie shell. Chill in refrigerator several hours or until firm. When ready to serve, whip 1 cup cream and spread over filling. Sprinkle 1 cup grated fresh coconut (or shredded moist coconut) over cream and decorate with curls of shaved chocolate. Keep chilled until all is served.

Hearty Meals

Pork, kraut and apples make a flavorful, nutritious and thrifty trio when crisp weather demands hearty meals. Put these good foods on your menus often during October 15 to November 30; during these six weeks there will be specials on them for budget-minded cooks.

Some night when you are serving pork chops, sauerkraut and mashed potatoes, top the meal off with this delicate lemon dessert.

Sauerkraut-Stuffed Apples

- 4 large baking apples
- 1 No. 303 can sauerkraut (drained)
- 1/2 pound ground fresh pork
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 4 teaspoons butter or margarine (melted)

Wash apples; remove core, being careful not to cut right through apple at one end. Hollow out inside of apple, leaving 1/4 inch shell. Chop 3/4 cup apple pulp. Mix thoroughly the chopped apple, sauerkraut, pork, sugar, Worcestershire sauce and salt.

Firmly pack sauerkraut mixture into apple hollows. Pour 1 teaspoon butter over top of sauerkraut stuffing in each apple. Arrange stuffed apples in baking pan containing 1/4 inch water. Bake in moderate (350 F.) oven 1 hour, or until apples are tender. Makes 4 servings.

Lemon Cake Custard

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup sifted flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1-3 cup bottled lemon juice
- 3 eggs (separated)
- 1 1/4 cups milk

Cream butter; blend in sugar, flour, salt, lemon juice, well-beaten egg yolks and milk. Beat egg whites stiff; fold in. Spoon mixture into 6 or 8 greased custard cups or a 1-quart casserole.

Place in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate (350F) oven 30 to 35 minutes for custard cups and 40 to 45 minutes for casserole, or until done. When baked, the dessert will have custard on the bottom and sponge cake on top. Makes about six servings.

BLUEBERRY SUNDAE

- 3/4 cup sugar
- 4 teaspoons flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Dash of ground cloves

2 cups fresh cultivated blueberries (washed and well-drained)

- 1 cup water
- 2 teaspoons butter or margarine

2 tablespoons lemon juice

Macaroni crumbs

Vanilla ice cream

Mix well together the sugar, flour, salt, and cloves. Bring 1 cup of the blueberries and the water to a boil rapidly and simmer 3 minutes. Add flour mixture and remaining 1 cup blueberries; bring to a boil again, stirring, and boil gently 3 minutes. Remove from heat.

Stir in butter and lemon juice. Put a tablespoon or two of the macaroni crumbs in each individual serving dish; place a scoop of ice cream over each portion of crumbs; top with warm or cold blueberry sauce. There will be 2 1/2 cups of the sauce; store any leftover in refrigerator.

GINGERBREAD TOPPER

Here's a delicious topping for gingerbread: Whip a cup of cream with a dash of salt until stiff and then fold in a half-teaspoon of vanilla, two tablespoons of molasses and a third-cup of chipped semi-sweet chocolate.

Large-size pancakes are good filled with applesauce and served with butter and crushed maple sugar.

Smart Party Ideas

Here's an idea for a snack buffet for holiday visitors and for other parties. Have two Lazy Susans of food—one cold and one hot.

On the cold ringaround, feature Norwegian sardines plus deviled eggs. Most sardines from Norway come packed in 3½-ounce tins; open the tins neatly and serve with lemon wedges. Cut hard-boiled eggs in lengthwise halves, scoop out the yolks; mash with mayonnaise and picadillo or India relish, salt and freshly-ground pepper; stuff the whites with the mixture, top each egg half with a sardine and garnish with criss-cross strips of pimiento. Add crackers and Melba toast and you're all set.

Pizza Appetizers are the hot of the party—delicious with cool drinks, with tea or coffee. They may be made ahead, refrigerated, and then placed under the broiler at serving time.

Pizza Appetizers

For the Pastry Base:
½ cup enriched corn meal
1½ cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking powder
One-third shortening
One-third cup water
For the Filling:
3 tablespoons olive oil
One-third cup Parmesan cheese
1 small can tomato sauce
Dash of salt
¼ pound cooked pork sausage meat
¼ pound cheddar cheese (diced)
¼ teaspoon oregano

Sift corn meal, flour, salt, and baking powder into medium-sized bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add water, a little at a time, until pastry will just hold together. Divide pastry into two parts. Knead each part gently a few seconds on a lightly floured board. Roll each part out to about ¼-inch thickness. Cut with small round cutters; prick. Place rounds on baking sheet turn up outside edge slightly and flute. Bake in hot (425 F.) oven 10 minutes. Brush each cooled round with olive oil. Top each with about ¼ teaspoon Parmesan cheese and add a thin layer of tomato sauce.

Sprinkle with salt and add a layer of browned sausage. Add more Parmesan cheese and top this with some diced cheddar. Brush this with remaining olive oil and sprinkle lightly with oregano. Broil until cheese melts, 1 to 2 minutes. Makes 2 dozen appetizers.

MACARONI-TUNA SALAD

1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces (2 cups) elbow macaroni
¼ cup mayonnaise
1 7-ounce can tuna (drained and flaked)
1 cup drained cooked green peas
¼ cup sweet pickle relish
Freshly-ground pepper
Lettuce
Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water; gradually add macaroni so that the water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until macaroni is tender. Drain. Rinse with cold water; drain again. In a large bowl, toss together lightly the macaroni, mayonnaise, tuna, peas, and pickle relish. Add pepper and more salt if needed. Chill. Serve on lettuce. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

FROSTING FOR BROWNIES

To make an easy and delicious chocolate frosting for brownies, combine ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar, ¼ cup water, and 2 squares chocolate in a saucepan. Let it come to a boil and cook for 3 minutes. Stir in 3 tablespoons of butter of margarine and 1 teaspoon of vanilla. When the mixture is cool blend in 1½ cups sifted confectioner's sugar. This amount will be enough to frost brownies that were baked in a 12 by 8-inch pan.

Budget Meal Tricks

Here's a new meat loaf recipe that combines thrift and glamor. Serve it with snap beans and parsley potatoes and you'll have a delicious main course.

Another economical supper dish is this Tuna Casserole, with green lima beans added to make it hearty. National Tuna Week is being featured from November 6 to November 15, so you'll probably find some good buys in this handy canned fish at that time.

APRICOT MEAT LOAF

Meat Loaf:
½ pound ground beef
½ pound ground pork
½ pound ground veal
¾ cup rolled oats (uncooked or quick or old-fashioned)
2 eggs
¾ cup milk
3 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
Filling and Sauce:
1½ cups cooked dried apricots
¼ cup water
¼ cup apricot juice
Mix together the beef, pork, veal, rolled oats, eggs, milk, salt and nutmeg; refrigerate for ½ hour. For the sauce, cook ½ cup of the apricots with the sugar, water and apricot juice until apricots are soft enough to put through a coarse sieve. Spread meat loaf mixture meat loaf and roll up, jelly-roll fashion. Loosen meat from wax paper with spatula if necessary. Place meat loaf in 9 x 5-inch pan. Decorate with the remaining apricot halves. Pour apricot sauce over loaf. Bake in moderate (350 F.) oven 1 hour. Remove from pan and let stand 5 minutes before slicing. Makes 8 servings.

TUNA CASSEROLE

¼ cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1 egg yolk (well beaten)
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 7-ounce can solid-pack tuna (drained)
½ cup sliced ripe olives
1 12-ounce package frozen green lima beans (cooked according to package directions and drained)
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
Cayenne
Melt butter in a saucepan over low heat. Blend in flour. Add milk and cook and stir until thickened. Gradually stir in egg yolk and lemon juice. Break tuna into large chunks with a fork. Add tuna, lima beans, salt, paprika and a dash of cayenne; mix lightly but well.

Turn into 1-quart casserole; cover. Bake in moderate (375 F.) oven 15 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

CREOLE MAYONNAISE

1 egg
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons sugar
½ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon pepper
1¼ cups salad oil

Put egg, 1 tablespoon of the vinegar, salt, sugar, paprika, mustard and pepper in narrow-bottom deep bowl. Beat rapidly with rotary beater (hand or electric) until well combined—about ½ minute.

Add ¼ cup of the oil all at one time and beat again rapidly until thoroughly combined—about ½ minute.

Add remaining oil in this same fashion, scraping sides of bowl with rubber spatula occasionally and making sure each ¼ cupful is beating in thoroughly before next ¼ cupful is added. Beat in remaining tablespoon of the vinegar. Makes about one and one-third cups.

Eat Hearty Breakfast

Are you giving the members of your family a nutritious breakfast before they go off to school, office or factory? A real stick-to-the-ribs food, oatmeal is a fine choice for the first meal of a cool day. It supplies thiamine, iron and protein—all nutrients essential to good health. Recently the protein in oatmeal was shown to have even more growth-promoting values than we've known about.

But don't serve oatmeal the same way all the time! Here are four variations of the basic recipe. And some morning try this new idea—Oatmeal Waffles, with sausage or apple.

BREAKFAST OATMEAL

$\frac{3}{4}$  teaspoon salt
3 cups boiling water
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cups rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned)

Put salt in briskly boiling water; stir in rolled oats. Cook quick oats  $2\frac{1}{2}$  to 5 minutes; cook old-fashioned oats 5 to 10 minutes; stir occasionally. Remove from heat; cover pan and let stand 5 minutes before serving.

Variations: Raisin: Stir  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup raisins into the boiling water when the rolled oats are added. Cook as above.

Apricot: Add  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup cooked dried apricots (chopped) to 4 servings of cooked oatmeal.

Butterscotch: Place 1 tablespoon brown sugar on each serving of cooked oatmeal.

Eggnog: Combine 1 beaten egg,

CARAMEL ICE CREAM

$\frac{1}{2}$  cup sugar
 $\frac{3}{4}$  cup syrup from canned cling peaches

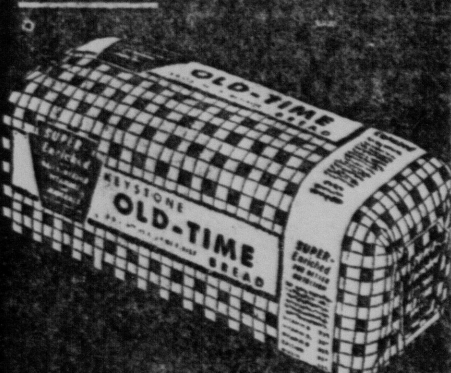

4 to 5 canned cling peach halves
Few grains salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup cream (whipped)

Place sugar in small heavy frying pan over low heat; stir until sugar is melted and light brown in color. Heat peach syrup and slowly stir in caramelized sugar. Cook and stir until caramel is dissolved. Cool. Crush peaches to make 1 cup pulp. Blend peaches and salt into caramel syrup.

Pour into refrigerator tray and place in freezing compartment with control set at lowest temperature. Freeze until icy. Turn into chilled bowl and beat with rotary beater. Fold in whipped cream. Return to freezing compartment and freeze to desired consistency. Reset temperature control to normal. Makes  $\frac{1}{2}$  pints.

Good quick supper: Heat canned baked beans and serve them with small browned pork sausage links and cole slaw.

KEYSTONE SANDWICH BREAD
The all-purpose loaf. Ideal for toast, sandwiches, and table service. The loaf with the square slice and the fine, smooth texture.

KEYSTONE RYE BREAD
A really different kind of Rye Bread. The crust is tender... the flavor is different. Adds zest to your sandwiches and meals.

KEYSTONE WHEAT BREAD
The Wheat loaf with a mild flavor most pleasing to the taste. Try it toasted to find out how really good it is. It provides the mild, roughage so desirable for good digestion.

2 teaspoons sugar, 1 cup milk,  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon vanilla. Serve over cooked oatmeal instead of milk.

OATMEAL WAFFLES

$\frac{1}{2}$  cups pancake ready-mix
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cups milk
One-third cup butter or margarine (melted)
2 eggs
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup quick rolled oats (uncooked)
Add milk, melted butter and eggs to pancake mix in medium-sized bowl. Beat with rotary egg beater until smooth. Do not over heat. Fold in rolled oats. Bake on a hot waffle iron. Serve with butter and maple syrup.

Sausage Waffles: Fold about 1 cup cooked pork sausage meat (drained) into batter just before baking. Serve with butter and maple syrup.

Apple Waffles: Fold 1 cup diced raw apple into batter just before baking. Serve with butter and cinnamon-sugar.

Prefinished Wall Panels Are Practical, Versatile

Prefinished wall panels are becoming doubly attractive to homeowners because of their versatility and ease of application, to say nothing of their practicality and good looks.

Ideally suited for surfacing of walls and ceilings in both new construction and remodeling jobs, prefabricated wall panels come in large, wall-sized sheets up to four by 12 feet. The material is a tempered hard board, factory-finished with a high-heat baked enamel, that comes to the job ready to install.

Once applied, this material eliminates future decorating expense, according to the Prefinished Wallpanel Council, for the durable surface is as easy to clean as a refrigerator or kitchen range.

It is available in a full spectrum of colors and a variety of finishes, including plain, horizontal line and tile patterns, marble, wood grain, granite, leather and others. Their hard-gloss surface makes the panels particularly adaptable to use in bathrooms, kitchens, utility and recreation rooms.

Prefinished wall panels are available

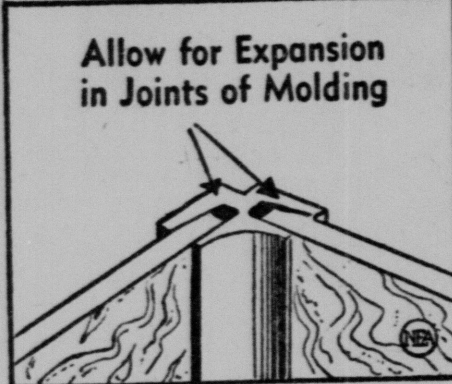

Draw Horizontal and Vertical Control Lines

Apply Adhesive to Back of Panel

Caulk for Tight Waterproof Joints

Allow for Expansion in Joints of Molding

NOVICE HANDYMAN can do a satisfactory job of prefabricated wall panel installation after careful planning, preparation and fitting. Available coast to coast from lumber and building material dealers; kitchen planning, wall covering and flooring companies and the like.

Best of all, a reasonably proficient home handyman can install these panels, which makes for ever welcome economy. The only tools needed are a fine-toothed saw, hammer, nail-set, carpenter's level, miter-box, flat mill file, plane, hand-drill and fine sandpaper.

Prefinished wall panels can be applied to dry walls of finished plaster, plasterboard, wallboard, plywood, pulp board or insulation board. Ready these surfaces for the panels by removing high spots and filling in low spots. If any surface is loose it should be removed and furred out to wall level with lath.

Remove wallpaper, if possible. Otherwise, scratch through wallpaper with claws of hammer to provide a direct contact for adhesive with plaster surface and panel. Walls must be dry and free of dust and grease.

With the aid of the carpenter's level, draw a level line around the room at the desired wainscot height. This is the horizontal control line for setting panels and moldings. Where prefabricated wall panels are being applied floor to ceiling, draw a vertical plumb line at the location of one of the vertical moldings. Measurements for cutting are made from this line.

Start at door opening for wainscot installation by nailing inside corner or edge molding in place. Allow space for base molding. Saw panel to size—use a slanting stroke and lift saw on upstroke to avoid chipping finish.

Fill moldings with caulking compound for a water-tight joint in all water areas.

Place panel face down on saw horses—but protect surface from scratches—and apply adhesive to back of panel according to the manufacturer's directions.

Press panel into place and push solidly over entire surface of panel to assure bond. On large wall areas, the panels can be sprung into position between vertical moldings already nailed in place. On smaller areas, apply the molding with the panels.

Quizzing The Gardener

Q—We have plenty of cornstalks remaining in the garden. Are they of any value for mulching purposes?

A—In certain situations—yes. They may be laid on the ground or tied upright around standing plants after the ground has frozen. As a ground mulch, lay somewhat crisscross, three to four inches thick. Excellent for a windbreak about hemlocks, American holly and similar evergreens subject to winter wind burn. Do not use if corn borers are present.

Q—Please settle a difference of opinion. Is it advisable to dig or plow the vegetable garden now or wait until spring?

A—Experience has taught the old gardener that much is to be gained from digging or plowing before winter. Not only is digging easier now but the turning of the soil at this season leads to the destruction of many insects which winter underground. The soil itself is benefited from being loosened and exposed to the alternate freezing and thawing.

Dogs Given Eisenhowers

HATBORO, Pa. (AP)—The household of President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower is going to include a pair of little dogs with names as long as their pedigrees.

They are a pair of papillons, a toy species of canine reportedly named after the French word for butterfly by Marie Antoinette.

Miss Sallie Pinckney of Hartsville, Pa., announced yesterday that Mrs. Eisenhower has accepted the dogs for delivery at the White House after the Jan. 20 inauguration.

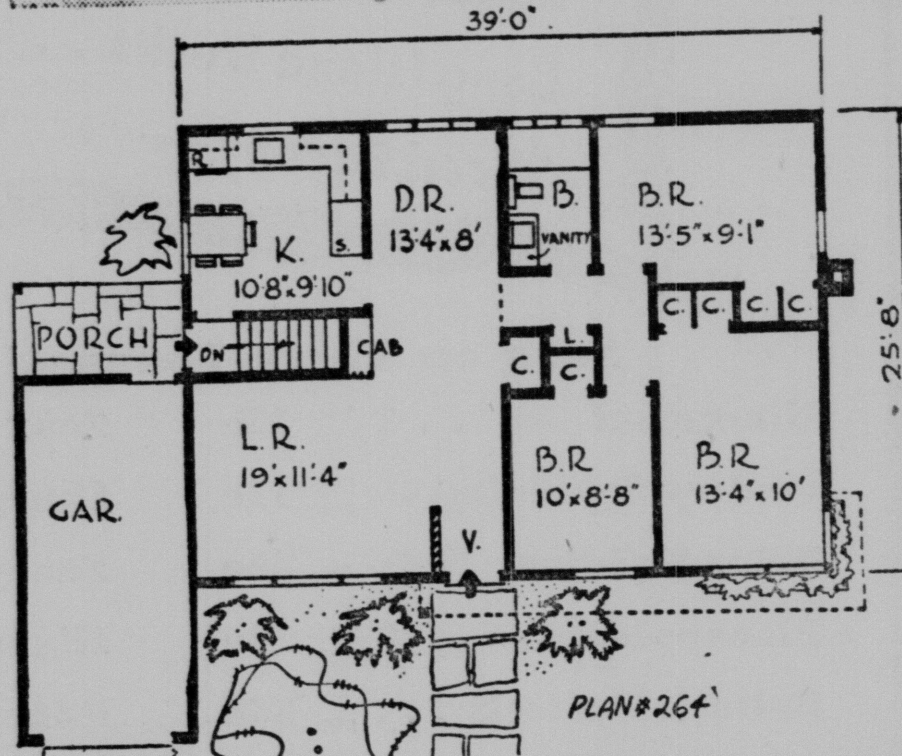

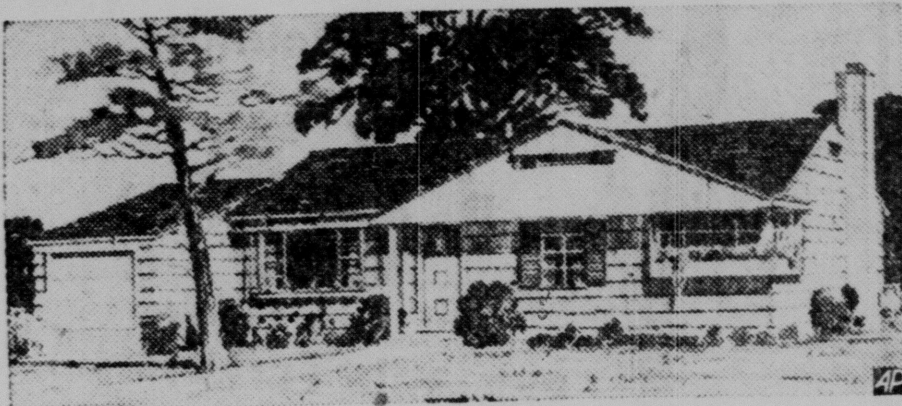

Miss Pinckney, secretary of the Papillon Club of America, said one of the dogs—from her own kennel—is Embur of Pinkney. The other is a red and white champion, Mima Mosa of Dulceda.

How To Fix It

Q—What size automatic water heater should the average family have?

A—Nothing less than 30-gallon heater can be expected to provide all the hot water needed.

Roller-coater painting is easy and fun for the novice decorator, and faster for both amateur and professional painters.

Painting With Roller Easy And It Can Be Fun, Too

There was a time, not so long ago, when painting with a roller rather than a brush was looked upon with ill favor. Some of this feeling has carried over to 1952 and some home owners still look askance at paint rollers.

This is partly due to what they called the "inefficiency" of many of the earliest rollers developed. But the situation—and the rollers—seem to have improved, and the results paint rollers are now giving in the hands of both professionals and non-professionals are most satisfactory.

And, as one paint industry spokesman points out, "you can have as much fun painting as in observing the results of your enterprise, now that paint can be whisked on with a roller."

Of course roller painting doesn't eliminate the paint brush, by any means. You need a brush to reach the areas adjoining the ceiling edge, the corners of the room and the woodwork.

Any type of paint coating that does not dry too quickly can be used with a roller. This does not include shellac or lacquer. Flat oil paints, enamels, latex-base paints and the casein types are all among those that can be used successfully.

Rollers come in various makes, types and sizes. The different coverings available for them make it possible to achieve various textured effects.

The simplest type is dipped in a paint-holding pan made especially for use with rollers. These come in widths that range from two to nine inches. Beginners usually find the seven-inch roller best suited to their use.

A second type is a hollow cylinder that can be filled with a pint of paint, used until its paint supply is exhausted and then refilled. A third and more expensive type is attached by a compressed-air feed line to a container holding up to five gallons of paint.

The type of covering material used on the roller determines the textured effect it is possible to obtain. There are, for instance, covers made of carpet-like materials and those of lamb's wool. Others are made of synthetic fibers such as orlon or nylon.

When taking time out from a painting project, it is important to take extra good care of your paint roller. To keep them from drying out, wrap your roller and brush in cellophane or tinfoil.

When the project is finished for the day, the clean-up is equally important. Soap and suds water will do the trick if you have used a roller with casein-type or latex-base coatings. A roller used in oil-base paints must, of course, be cleaned in a suitable solvent—such as turpentine or mineral spirits.

If you wish to leave your roller-coater cover soaking in a solvent, you can obtain the proper container for the purpose from your paint dealer.

UN

U. S. and other Western countries is inevitable. The Soviet press also has made it plain that the Russians do not consider the Indian plan the right solution to the POW issue.

Both British and Americans made it clear that they are not divided on their basic refusal to send back prisoners who say they are afraid to return to the Reds. They differ over what approach is most likely to solve the problem and bring an armistice to Korea.

The U. S. position is that the Indian plan is too vague and could give the Reds a chance to indulge in all sorts of stalling and double talk. They say they have had the experience of negotiating with the Communists at Panmun-jom and have learned the necessity of crossing all T's and dotting all I's.

The Indian plan, as revised yesterday along lines suggested by Eden, would:

1. Turn all prisoners held by both sides over to a four-power commission made up of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland and Sweden. These countries would be responsible for caring for the prisoners and getting them home. The commission would pick a neutral umpire who would sit as chairman of their deliberations.

2. After 90 days the commission would ask a political conference at which the Reds would be represented still to do with the prisoners what on its hands because they refused to go home. If the conference could not agree within 60 days, those prisoners would be turned over to a U. N. group.

Four Drivers Fined On Patrol Charges

Four drivers, arrested over the weekend on various charges by Salem State Highway Patrolmen, were fined a total of $145 and costs by Mayor Harry M. Vincent.

Fined were: R. S. Gallagher, 56, of RD 2, Salem, driving while intoxicated, $100; Donald G. Christen, 25, of W. State St., driving left of center, $15; Daniel R. Stoffer, 25, of Leetonia, reckless operation, $20; and Cleo R. Cox, 22, of RD 5, Lisbon, passing over the yellow line $10.

RECKLESS DRIVER FINED

Kenneth E. Lynn of Zanesville, arrested at 11:50 p.m. Saturday on W. State St. and charged by police with reckless operation, was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Harry M. Vincent.

COUNCIL TO MEET

Salem City Council will hold a special meeting at 6 o'clock tonight to pass an ordinance to issue bonds permitting payment of city notes on special paving and sewer assessments.

not uncommon and have proved valuable in searches.

No trace of the Military Air Transport Service Globemaster, biggest in military use and capable of carrying 200 men, was found by 11 search planes which went out yesterday despite bad weather.

From Middleton Island to the mainland is about 50 miles of water. Then to Anchorage the route is edged by what veteran fliers call some of the "most rugged country in the world" with glacier covered peaks of 12,000 feet or more.

THE MATS Globemaster, big as a five-room house, made its last report over Middleton at 9:47 p.m. Saturday on a 1,400-mile flight to Elmendorf from McChord Air Force Base, near Tacoma, Wash.

The Alaska Air Command confirmed early today the C124, based at McChord, was on a routine flight to Alaska and most of the 41 passengers were stationed in the territory.
